The primary objective of the Singapore Co Allotment is to finance (wholly or in part) one or more, or any combination, of the following: (a) investment in subsidiaries, joint ventures and affiliates, (b) capital expenditure, for ongoing and new projects and (c) general corporate purposes.

The Singapore Co Allotment is in the nature of a typical private equity investment and is subject to customary terms and conditions that include the following important rights provided to the Investor:

- (i) Subject to the Investor holding 5% of the shareholding of the Company, the Investor has the ability to appoint/nominate 1 (one) director (the "Investor Director") out of a total number of 4 (four) directors on the board of the Singapore Co ("Singapore Co Board") and the presence of the Investor Director shall be required for the quorum of the Singapore Co Board;
- (ii) Extensive affirmative veto rights in respect of the Singapore Co Board, such as (but not limited to) any amendments to constitutional documents, any change in capital structure, adoption and amendments to annual business plan, budgets, change in the business of the Singapore Co, including entering into new lines of business;
- (iii) Upon delivery of a notice by Investor of the occurrence of certain exceptional default events, which include (i) any fraud committed by the Singapore Co or the Company or its promoters against the Investor; (ii) any material breach committed by the Singapore Co or the Company or the promoters of the Company under the transaction documents; (iii) any insolvency event occurring in respect of the Company or the Singapore Co; or (iv) if no exit has been provided to the holders of the Preference Shares by the end of 5 years from the date of the Singapore Co Allotment (which exit can be by way of an IPO of the Singapore Co, a trade sale of the Singapore Co, or a purchase, swap or redemption of the Preference Shares (which could be for cash or for Company shares) by any of the Singapore Co, the Company or the promoters of the Company), the Preference Shares shall automatically become convertible into 99.99% of the ordinary shares of the Singapore Co (on a fully diluted as converted basis and with all rights that are attached to ordinary shares, including the voting rights) ("Default Event") allowing the holder of Preference Shares to inter alia control the operations and governance of the Company, on agreed terms.

Since the contractual terms and conditions of the Singapore Co Allotment are typical of a private equity investment in an unlisted company, it may be construed as acquisition of control by the Investor in the Singapore Co, leading to the Singapore Co being construed as having come under the joint control of the Company and the Investor, under the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Substantial Acquisition of Shares and Takeovers) Regulations, 2011. In addition, terms of the Singapore Co Allotment provide for the ability of the Investor to acquire control of the Singapore Co pursuant to the Default Event. Accordingly consent of the shareholders of the Company is sought under Clause 49(V)(F) of the Listing Agreement and other applicable provisions, if any, of the Companies Act, 2013 and the rules made thereunder (including any statutory modification(s) or re-enactment thereof for the time being in force) and other applicable provisions for approving the terms of the Singapore Co Allotment.

None of the Directors / Key Managerial Personnel of the Company / their relatives are, in any way, concerned or interested, financially or otherwise, in the Resolution set out at Item No.2 of the Notice.

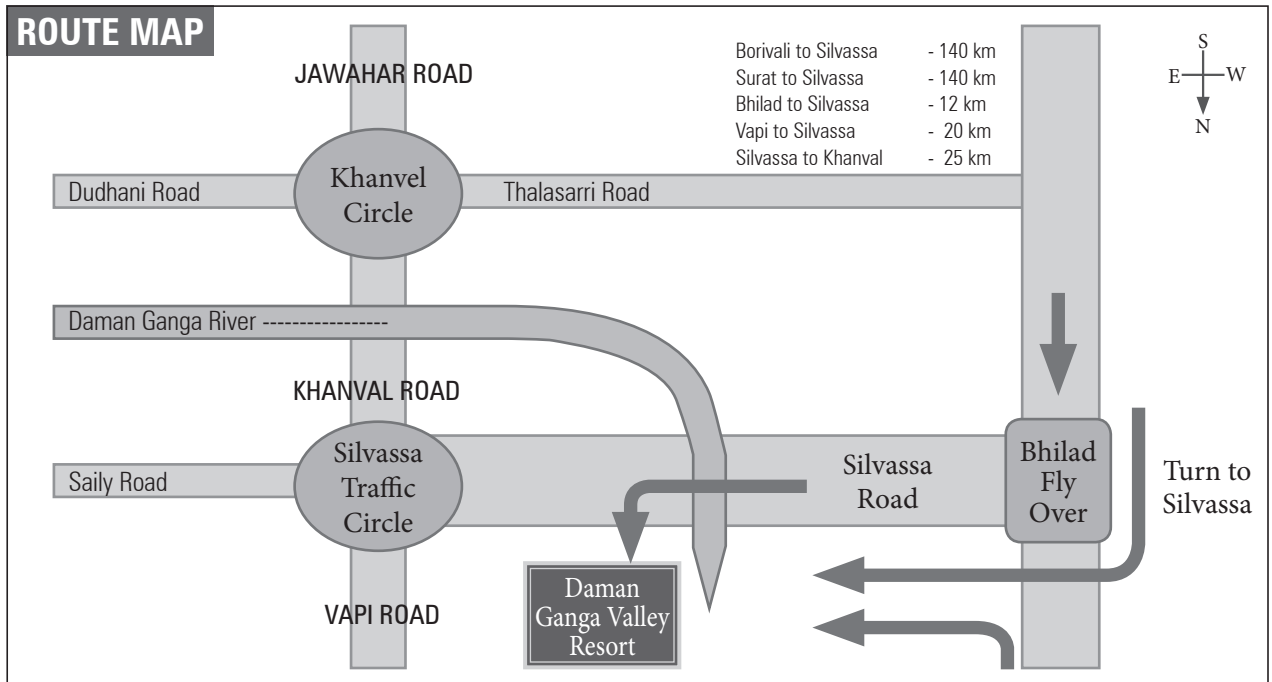

In light of above, you are requested to accord your approval to the Special Resolution as set out at Agenda Item No.2 of the accompanying Notice.
